

SENATE HEARING ON HOME ENDS FRIDAY

EXECUTIVE ON STAND FRIDAY
MORNING HERE

Session Ends at 2:30 Friday—Board Members
Heard at Session

Hearing by a senate committee of charges against administration of the O. S. and S. O. Home here, terminated abruptly at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. Frank Allen, Washington C. H., Charles Gebauer, Cleveland and D. Q. Morrow, of Hillsboro, members of the trustee board, were questioned Friday afternoon. Mrs. Garver was not called. At the conclusion of the testimony Chairman Marshall declared the preliminary hearing at an end. A number of witnesses summoned, were paid and dismissed without being heard. The hearing will be resumed in Columbus either Monday or Tuesday when Superintendent Garver will again be called, it is said.

Sylvius Garver, superintendent of the O. S. and S. O. Home, who is under fire in the senate committee investigation of administration conditions at the institution, was on the stand for two and one-half hours before the committee Friday morning.

His testimony delayed the noon recess, which was not taken until after 12:30 o'clock. Senator L. T. Marshall, Xenia, chairman of the committee, refused to divulge the nature of Garver's testimony, as the hearing is secret, but said he had been questioned at length on the charges filed by National Guard officers who conducted a preliminary investigation some time ago.

Mrs. Garver, wife of the superintendent and chief matron of the institution, was expected to take the stand at the afternoon session. The testimony of both is thought to consist of categorical denials of the charges made and the testimony of other witnesses.

Dr. W. H. Finley, Xenia, was the first witness called Friday morning and Professor W. S. Sackett, superintendent of Home schools, followed him. Fifteen or sixteen witnesses were examined by the committee during three sessions Thursday, a night session being decided upon at the last minute.

At the close of the afternoon session all of the members of the committee with the exception of Chairman Marshall, visited the Home. Many of them had never seen the institution. They were received graciously by the institution heads and taken for a tour of inspection but did not dine at the Home.

Senator Marshall indicated Thursday night that a system of propaganda had been inaugurated to defeat the purposes of the hearing, because of the fact it is being held in star chamber session. The visit of Charles Gebauer, Cleveland, member of the board, was said to be preliminary to the trustee board meeting Saturday. However, he visited the scene of the hearing Thursday afternoon but was not admitted to the committee chamber. He is said to have told newspaper men that the board will launch an investigation of its own if the committee finds questionable conditions at the institution.

Inability to pin down witnesses at the hearing to a statement of conditions of which they have actual knowledge, is said to have interfered with success of the probe. Numerous rumors afloat are believed to have colored the stories of witnesses and the committee has been handicapped in wading through a mass of unsupported information to get the real facts.

It was believed the hearing would be concluded Friday afternoon in Xenia, and will be resumed probably in Columbus next week. Frank Allen, Washington C. H., member of the board of trustees, was expected to testify Friday afternoon. Although his term expired last April, his successor has never been named, it is said.

The hearing is being held in the quarters of Company L, 147th, Infantry, National Guard, East Main Street.

MITCHELL TAKES LID OFF AIRCRAFT PROBE WITH STARTLING CHARGES

Washington, Feb. 6.—Brigadier General Mitchell took the lid off the aircraft investigation today with a bang and clatter that shocked official Washington.

Bringing his fight for a greater air service into the open, General Mitchell charged flatly that not only are the war and navy departments inefficiently conducting their air services, but that the navy deliberately hindered the air bombing experiments conducted by the joint army-navy air services off the Virginia capes in 1921.

General Mitchell's grave and at the same time sensational charges were laid before the special congressional committee that is investigating the aircraft situation. They were also contained in a letter which the "flying general" sent to Secretary of War Weeks in reply to Weeks' recent demand that Mitchell "explain" some of his recent statements on the air service.

So serious were the charges made by Mitchell today against the administration of the navy department, that it is regarded as certain there will be a greater and more far-reaching investigation, which may cost the heads of some of the higher ranking officers of the navy, and perhaps that of Mitchell himself.

Mitchell defied tradition and precedent by tearing aside the veil of secrecy that for several years has shielded the bombing tests off the

U. S. WITHDRAWS AS MEMBER OF GENEVA OPIUM CONFERENCE

Washington, Feb. 6.—The United States today withdrew from the international opium conference at Geneva it was announced at the state department.

Official permission was telegraphed to Stephen G. Porter, head of the American delegation to withdraw and return home.

President Coolidge himself granted the American delegation permission to withdraw, it was revealed at the state department, because it became apparent that there was no hope of the conference fulfilling the promises it had made to erect really effectual barriers to the opium traffic.

The following announcement was made by the department:

"This government has received from the American delegation to the opium conference now in session at Geneva, a report to the effect that that conference cannot be expected to reach an agreement which would be satisfactory to this government as carrying out the purposes of The Hague opium convention of 1912, or acceptable to it as according the purpose set forth in the joint resolution of congress of May 15, last, which used the participation of this government in the present conference."

"The President has, therefore to his regret, found it necessary to authorize the American delegation to withdraw from further participation in the conference at the discretion of its chairman, the Hon. Stephen G. Porter."

"The department of state is in receipt this morning of a telegram stating that Mr. Porter presented his letters of withdrawal at 10:30 a. m. today."

GRANDMA M'CURDY WINS FREEDOM ON DIRECTED VERDICT

Coshocton, O., Feb. 6.—"Grandma" Clara M'Curdy, 67, charged with the murder of her husband by administering arsenic, was free today.

At the conclusion of the state's evidence, where the white haired woman was charged with first degree murder, Judge James Glenn, presiding directed the jury to return a verdict of acquittal.

Judge Glenn held the state's evidence was purely circumstantial and declared the prosecution failed to show a motive for the alleged crime. The verdict liberating the aged prisoner was announced about 15 minutes after the judge had instructed the jury to free Mrs. M'Curdy.

A wild demonstration which spread out of the courtroom into the corridors, greeted the announced of the verdict.

The demonstration continued 30 minutes.

Leader of Sect Practices On Zither to Be Ready For Golden Harp

East Patchogue, N. Y., Feb. 6.—This odd little town became a grandstand today for watching "the end of the world," forecast by the reformed seventh day adventists to begin at midnight tonight.

Automobiles and Long Island trains brought crowds to East Patchogue intent on enjoying the preparations of Robert Reidt, and about 35 followers for their hegira to Heaven on a cloud.

Reidt, his wife, their four children and others who believe with Mrs. Margaret Rowan of Los Angeles, California, that storms, pestilence, disease and devastating miracles will visit earth within the next seven days beginning at midnight, planned

"THE END IS COME."

Cleveland, O., Feb. 6.—Under police guard because some people "don't know how to behave," Cleveland's quota of 144,000 elect throughout the world were waiting at their homes today awaiting the coming of the cloud which is to waft them westward to California's mountain peaks where the last judgment scene is to be enacted.

"The end is come," was the final message given at the last public meeting which ended early today.

"Be ye therefore ready," was the song of the Reformed Seventh Day Adventists. "It's the glory hal-luh-luh-luh," was sung, and the little band dispersed to their homes to don clothing fit for the final coming of the Prince of Peace.

to go to a hill near here tonight and await the cloud that will waft them to the golden stair via Hollywood and San Diego, California, and Jupiter.

Brother Willard Downs, of Yaphank, one of Reidt's most ardent and prayerful votaries offered his bicycle for sale today for five dollars.

Extra details of state troopers will be on hand, over Reidt's protest, to protect him and his "brides of the Lamb."

They have been guarded for several days because devotees of another faith, living in a settlement hard by the Reidt have voiced disapproval of his creed. The "apostle of doom" has received several threatening notes.

Reidt told followers today that he was tired of being misrepresented. He said he wished it understood that he had not predicted the earth would sink into oblivion on the stroke of twelve. It will be gradual and awful, he said.

The apostle believes he will be presented with a golden harp upon his arrival in Heaven. Until he gets that instrument, he confided, he will make music with his zither, while travelling with his cohorts on the clouds.

All is in readiness in the Reidt circle. Reidt has had his suit pressed. Mrs. Reidt has an elegant brown dress. Brother Downs has a gorgeous blue tie.

Although their questioning of twenty-four college, of pharmacy students Thursday failed to throw any light on the mystery, the probers today hope to learn, through their examination of additional students in that college, whether there is enrolled in that college some students whose normal exterior conceals a distorted mentality and who, prompted by criminal intent, distributed the capsuled strychnine.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 6.—A motion picture theatre was blown up by a bomb and one suspect was killed by a policeman as he tried to break away at his home early today.

PROBERS LEARN DISPENSARY WAS LEFT UNLOCKED

Investigators Baffled But Continue to Query Students

Columbus, Feb. 6.—Mystery surrounding the seemingly surreptitious appearance of the bottle, containing about 300 grains of strychnine on a shelf in the College of Pharmacy laboratory, Ohio State University, was cleared up here today by police officials probing the mysterious distribution of capsuled strychnine which resulted in the recent death of two Ohio State University students and serious illness of at least three other students.

Prof. William F. Keyser, an instructor in the college of pharmacy today informed Police Prosecutor Chester and the city detectives who are conducting the investigation, that the bottle of poison was obtained about a year ago from the general chemical storeroom on the university campus. Keyser was unable to explain for what purpose the strychnine was secured.

Probers are now seeking to find the answer to this query. They are, also, expected to question university students and employees other than those directly connected with the college of pharmacy in view of the disclosure that a rear door at the dispensary on the campus from which the deadly poison is believed to have been distributed had been left unlocked at night.

This information has raised the question in the minds of the investigating officials, as to whether some one not connected with the college of pharmacy slipped into the building and purposely placed capsuled strychnine in the receptacles containing capsuled strychnine.

Columbus, O., Feb. 6.—Completely baffled by the strychnine poisoning mystery, involving death of two Ohio State university students and the serious illness of at least three others probing police officials this morning resumed their questioning at the University of College of Pharmacy students.

At the same time inspectors, acting under instructions from the state board of pharmacy, began an inspection of Columbus wholesale and retail drug stores in an effort to determine whether the ounce bottle, containing about 300 grains of strychnine, found at the university pharmaceutical laboratory Thursday or other strychnine was improperly obtained by any O. S. U. student or anyone else, at one of the drug stores.

Despite discovery of the bottle of strychnine, investigating authorities today, discrediting the theory that distribution of the deadly poison among the students might have been accidental and due to carelessness on the part of some student in the college of pharmacy, continued to hold the belief that the poisoning was deliberate.

Although their questioning of twenty-four college, of pharmacy students Thursday failed to throw any light on the mystery, the probers today hope to learn, through their examination of additional students in that college, whether there is enrolled in that college some students whose normal exterior conceals a distorted mentality and who, prompted by criminal intent, distributed the capsuled strychnine.

Dolan maintains that the prosecutors' report has exonerated him and will base his plea on this ground.

EXPECT FIGHT IN HOUSE OVER TAFT PLAN NEXT WEEK

Would Give Reference Committee Power Over New Bills

Columbus, O., Feb. 6.—A spirited fight is forecast in the house early next week over a proposal by Majority Floor Leader Taft to give the reference committee broad powers over the introduction of bills.

The proposed amendment to the house rules, which will, probably come up for adoption in the house next Tuesday, would completely alter the system of introduction of bills in the house and would give the committee a censorship power which would permit it to shut out "trivial" or unimportant bills, duplications, or those sponsored with improper motives and would authorize it to incorporate provisions of bills into others already received.

The proposed rule was referred to the rules committee when introduced late Thursday.

The senate early next week is expected to finally reach the question of the confirmation of T. J. Duffy, reappointed by Governor Donahay, as a member of the state industrial commission and of other appointments by the governor.

The senate late Thursday passed a series of five bills covering minor changes in the code covering real estate transfers, received two bills and adjourned until 7:30 o'clock Monday night. The house passed three bills of minor importance and received 17 bills.

GRATING OVER MICROPHONE IS PROOF OF LIFE

Efforts Renewed To Effect Rescue By Mine Shaft

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 6.—"The alive."

This was the message from the bowels of Sand Cave today read in the faint staccato ticking of a microphone. It was the message made possible by that miracle of the age—radio, and it rekindled the spark of hope and faith which as the dawn of the seventh day of futile rescue effort broke over these cavernous hills, was dwindling to the vanishing point.

Floyd Collins lives.

The word spread like wildfire through this little town.

It was the morning greeting of the grim faced men who walk about its streets. Even the putt putt of gas engine, sounding strangely foreign as they toiled among virgin rock about the floor of the cave pit seemed to be shouting:

"He lives! He lives! He lives!"

And the furious digging, which through the night had put the "dead or alive" shaft down a total of approximately fifteen feet, took on a new aspect of grim determination. It was W. H. Riley of Bowling Green, and Morton Weldy, of Glasgow, who brought about the revival of hope.

They arrived here last night with a double radio amplifier—really a microphone in the strict sense of the word—a phone attachment which greatly magnifies all sound coming into it.

The apparatus was moved to the cave and was set into the circuit which goes down into the cave beyond the point where humans are now able to penetrate—two copper strands forming the only link between Collins and the world from which for seven days he has been separated by rock and sand as he lay imprisoned in a narrow crevice by a seven foot boulder.

A little group of men stood by near a flickering campfire as Riley attached the phones. He listened a moment and announced the cave gave forth no sounds.

Then as he listened, the plant installed on the crest of the cliff to provide power for the line was suddenly cut off.

Riley at the phones raised his hands for quiet. A sharp staccato order was given.

Into the phones came one sharp snap, followed by a silence and then a series of grating sounds—rrrr—rrrr—Floyd Collins was talking in the unmistakable language from the depths of the earth.

Lights were flashed on again—and they brought silence to the phones.

The experiment was tried again and again the grating in the phones came as darkness settled down on the cave, but this time after a moment or two, it ceased.

Lights flashed again and the silence continued.

A third repetition of the test brought only a continuation of the silence. Then Riley interpreted the language of the phones.

The light socket above the point where Collins lies is known to be loose. It was found impossible, because of the nature of working conditions and the cave roof to place it firmly. Thus, Riley said, it duplicated the conditions of the loosened light bulb at the farm house.

When the lights were first turned off, Riley believes the shock of sudden darkness frightened Collins and he involuntarily jumped as much as his pined position would permit. It was enough, he thinks to send the first sharp snap into the phones.

Then as darkness continued, Riley believes Collins decided something had gone wrong with the fixture and attempted by fumbling against it to adjust it. This was the first rumbling that the phones gave forth.

When the lights came on again, Riley thinks Collins believed his efforts had been successful and fearing to again extinguish the light lay unusually still.

And the phones told of this.

They remained mute.

The second period of darkness brought a repetition of the movements less lengthy than before because the prisoner was growing tired. When the lights came on again, through no effort of his, Riley believes Collins concluded some sort of experiment was being made and therefore refrained from further attempts to move the light. Thus the phones were silent.

Collins had delivered his message.

Half the world is half asleep

It is terrible to feel all dragged out—to live from one day to the next in a constant state of weariness. Yet thousands do, because constipation is destroying their energy—even their interest in life. Only Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings sure and safe relief from this disease.

"Nothing seemed to interest her"

BY THE end of the second act she wished she were home in bed. She was tired—always tired. That fact showed in her face. And "she" may be multiplied by tens of thousands of women in America. For it was the world's most universal disease that was sapping her strength and killing her interest. . . . It is good to know that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has brought permanent relief to thousands of sufferers from constipation.

When ALL-BRAN travels through the system, its fiber remains unchanged. Therefore, it can sweep the intestine clean. It can absorb and carry moisture through the intestinal tract and stimulate it to natural, healthy action. ALL-BRAN is what doctors call a bulk food.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is delightful with milk or cream, sprinkled over other cereals; cooked with hot cereals; in soups, or made into the many recipes given on every package. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to bring permanent relief or the grocer returns the purchase price. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal.

Be sure to get Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Only ALL-BRAN brings sure results. You can see that a part-bran product can, at best, be but partially effective.

Kellogg's is the original and only ALL-BRAN. It is the bran which doctors recommend. Accept no other if you would be sure. All grocers sell it. Leading hotels and restaurants serve it. Buy a package of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN today.

Your Income Tax

No. 14

The revenue act of 1924 provides that in computing net income there may be deducted from gross income "a reasonable allowance for the exhaustion, wear, and tear of property used in trade or business, including a reasonable allowance for obsolescence." For convenience this allowance is usually referred to as "depreciation." The deduction is confined to property actually used in a business, trade, profession, or vocation. In general it applies to capital assets, the cost of which can not be deducted as an expense. For example, a lawyer or physician is not permitted to write off as a current expense the cost of his professional library, but may deduct an allowance for its depreciation.

Deductions are not allowed for depreciation of taxpayer's home, the furnishings therein, his personal effects or clothing. Costumes used exclusively in the theatrical business, however, may be the subject of a depreciation allowance.

Depreciation in the value of land, whether improved or unimproved, can not be claimed. No amount may be included for depreciation representing reduction in value of property due to changes in environment—for example, loss in rental due to a change in the social or business condition of the neighborhood. Neither is any change in the amount or rate of depreciation allowable on account of an increase or decrease in the market value of property. Fluctuation of property has no bearing upon the rate or amount allowable for depreciation.

Intangibles, the use of which in trade or business is definitely limited in duration may be the subject of a depreciation allowance. Examples are patents, copyrights, licenses, and franchises.

Rice Christians

Suppose Paul and the first missionaries of Christianity had traveled East instead of West? Look at the frightful conditions today in the Orient without Christianity and then picture America and your own probable environment if those missionaries had gone east to India and China instead of west to Europe and America.

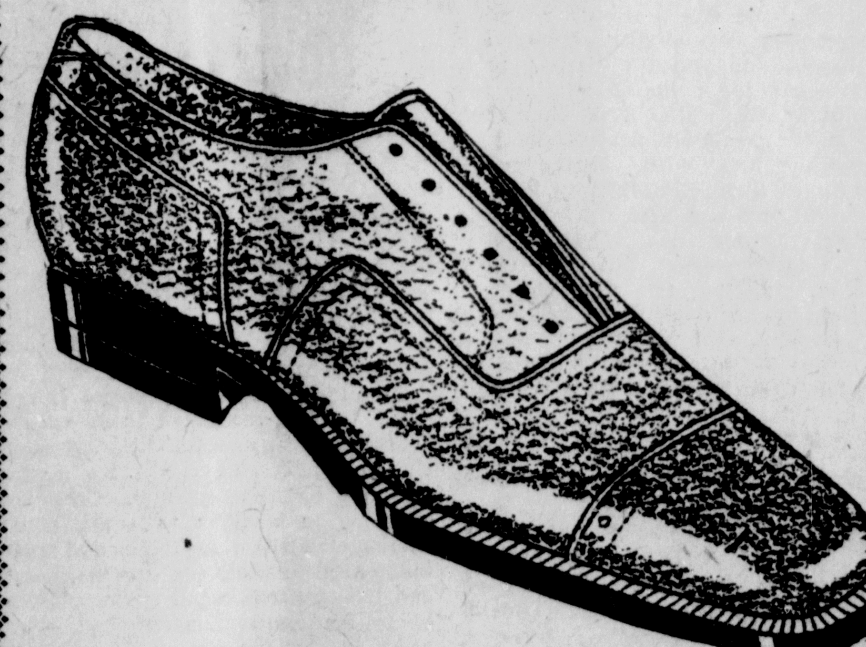

When a man in India confesses Christianity only because he sees that Christians usually have more to eat and know how to live better than their non-Christian friends, they call him a Rice Christian.

There are a lot of Rice Christians in the United States. They sit around and enjoy all the privileges of living in a Christian civilization and shirk the responsibilities of the Church and representatives of Jesus Christ who made such privileges possible. Get out of the Rice Christian class! Be an active church member!

The Courtship of Myles Standish

Nine months in the making. Cost more than $800,000 to produce. Eighty-seven name parts. The film classic of the age. Romantic coloring. The deeds and days of the Pilgrims produced amid thrills and realism. The epic poem transplanted to the screen in stupendous fascinating scenes complete in every detail. The love story irresistible. The picture that should live forever.

—The Story—

History and literature have handed down no greater or more famous love story than that written by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow in his immortal poem, "The Courtship of Myles Standish." Brought to the screen, it presents Charles Ray in his greatest role. He displays rare and consummate skill, true genius and personality in the characterization of the dashing young Pilgrim adventurer, John Alden, who faces a thousand deaths courageously, but can't speak his love for the beautiful maiden, Priscilla Mullins. The picture will live forever.

DISEASE

Dr. R. H. Grube, county health commissioner, speaking before the Greene County Medical Society, declares that although scarlet fever has been a menace to health for hundreds of years, a curative serum has just now been demonstrated effective in checking the disease.

The statement shows another forward step taken in the world of medical science, which has done so much to drive the epidemic plague from the world and to preserve health. Not so many years ago, physicians were helpless before many of the diseases that are now so effectively combatted that they have ceased to be the constant menace they were in the past.

The constant application of science, to a study of the cause and cure of the serious forms of disease, has resulted in equipping physicians with the scientific medicinal means to save lives now that would have been helplessly sacrificed not so many years ago.

RED TAPE

The very frank charge of Brigadier General William Mitchell of the American air service that army and navy officers are "muzzled" and "gagged" by their superiors when it comes to giving testimony before a congressional committee, should be followed up with an investigation designed to bring a halt to this modern form of tyranny.

The system of red tape in the government departments, and especially in the army and navy bureaus, has long been well known but it is time that the application of military and naval discipline to prevent officers telling the truth in a government probe, should be brought to a stop.

A mighty good opportunity to cut some of this army red tape presented itself in Alaska, when the cry came forth from diphtheria stricken Nome, to rush anti-toxin. Because a government plane could not be used for that purpose without obtaining permission from the government, dog teams were mushed over the trackless wastes of this far north territory in bitterly cold weather, in an effort to save lives in the stricken city.

Use of an airplane would not only have speeded up help for the city, but would have been applauded so vigorously by the good people of these states, that the war department would have been laughed to shame had it so much as suggested that the action was a grave breach of discipline.

WORRY

Worry about civilization and races and other large aspects of the world is taking the place of the old brand of worries about diet and the health and similar trivialities. William J. Perry, a British authority on cultural anthropology, has started a fresh line of worry about the fate of the Nordics. Supporting his disquieting thesis are some social statistics showing that blondes are vanishing from the scene in cities and giving place to short dark-haired people. The Nordic blonde does well in the country, says Professor Perry, but succumbs under the average conditions of metropolitan life. The blue-eyed Nordic also is on the wane while the brown-eyed brunette holds up better. Fortunately for the American Nordic, the decline of the blue and the blonde is more immediately menacing in England and London is to be the first victim of the racial shift. But no doubt it will attack us here sooner or later.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

WHO HAS ONCE BEEN POOR

To riches he was born, and so, There's much of life he doesn't know The pinch of poverty and pain The struggle, oftentimes in vain A little higher up to get. Beyond the wolves of want and debt; The thousand cares from day to day Which poor men meet along the way, The makeshifts of the slender purse, The countless woes I could rehearse All these make up the cruel list Of tragedies which he has missed.

Not him I blame for falling quite To understand the poor man's plight To riches he was born, and The pinch of want he doesn't know; But him I blame, who once was poor And gaining wealth becomes a boor; Who, freed from misery, want and

MOTHER WORLD: "HOW LONG AM I GOING TO HAVE THAT ON MY MIND?"

1905-Twenty Years Ago-1925

It was announced today that there will be a fox chase on Saturday, Feb. 11, to begin at Ed Schmidt's ice pond at 10:30 o'clock. A fine, lively fox has been captured and will be turned loose at that time.

The grip has been getting in its work at the city work house and a number of the prisoners at the institution have been under the spell of the diminutive microbe.

One of the largest audiences that has been present at the opera house in a long time attended the play, "Way Down East," which was in Xenia Tuesday night.

O. E. Bradfute, of Cedarville, will address the farmers in Wilmington Saturday on the topic, "Co-operation."

Cream together one-half cup of butter and three-quarters of a cup of granulated sugar; add the beaten yolks of two eggs and one-fourth teaspoon of orange extract. Mix together one-half cup of chopped English walnuts, one cup of drained, stewed and chopped prunes, and one cup of pastry flour and a very little over three-fourths extra cupful of the same flour, sifted with three teaspoons of baking powder. Dissolve one-fourth teaspoon of soda in one-half cup of prune juice, and mix all these ingredients together into a batter, folding in two stiffly whipped egg whites last. Bake 40 minutes in a moderate oven.

Reader Friends have asked me for the following recipes:

(For "Mrs. S.") Glazed Sweet Potatoes: Boil or steam sweet potatoes till they are tender, then peel and cut them lengthwise in thick slices. Place these slices in a buttered pan, cover with bits of butter, sprinkle generously with brown sugar and a little cinnamon ground, and bake till a rich brown in a good oven.

(For "Mrs. T.") Coconut Pie Filling: Separate the whites from the yolks of three eggs. Beat the yolks with one-half cup of white sugar; add one heaping teaspoon of butter melted, one-half teaspoon of vanilla, two cups of sweet milk and four teaspoons of shredded coconut. Line a deep pie pan with ordinary pie crust and turn this filling into it. Bake like any egg-filling pie (that is, slipping the pie into a hot oven at first, to set the crust, but after a few minutes reducing the oven heat to "medium," and continuing baking at this moderate temperature during the entire 40 minutes which are required for the baking. (If a pie with egg in it is allowed to boil while baking it will be sure to "wey").

Serious operation avoided

Resinol healed stubborn sore

Elyria, Ohio, March 1:—"I feel it my duty and pleasure to thank you for the wonderful cure your Resinol salve has wrought for my husband, who suffered from an open sore on the back of his neck for four years. Several doctors said that it was a cancer and advised its removal, but it was so near the base of the brain that we feared an operation. I had found Resinol Ointment so effective for cuts, burns and similar things that I induced my husband to try that. After using only two jars of Resinol, the sore entirely healed—every trace of it has disappeared. Resinol certainly was a God-send to us!" (Signed) Mrs. E. E. Kennedy, 245 E. 8th St.

-to build up Weight!

ANY WOMAN, any man, can now have a well-developed face and form. The whole, simple secret of a well-developed form is in the number of blood-cells in your body. You can now forget all the theoretical talk about diet, exercise, fat treatments, food-fats and fat-foods. Nothing is of any use, after all, except blood-cells!

Thin, run-down men and women, with bony necks, sunken cheeks, bony shoulders—all these are suffering from one thing—too few blood-cells. Science has proved that S.S.S. helps to make the rich red-blood-cells, which you need. Your blood is starving for these new blood-cells! Give your blood the blood-cells it needs—take S.S.S. the great scientific blood-cell maker. S.S.S. has done marvels, too, in making beautiful complexions, clearing the skin, making lips rosy red, the cheeks full and plump—because it rids the blood of impurities which cause pimples, blackheads, acne, blotches, eczema, tetter, rash and rheumatism, too. As the medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable, it may be taken with perfect safety. This is why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. Start taking S.S.S. today and your great problem, that of your personal appearance, can be solved.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Today's Talks

WILL ROGERS

I like to write about living men and women. I like to thank them while they live for the inspiration they radiate.

Today I sat a few feet from Will Rogers, the cow-boy comedian, and saw him chew his gum and spread his pokes and "gags" so thick that they blew up the room with laughter—the kind of laughter that covers your face with tears.

If anybody else had said the things he said in a serious mood they would have sent for the police. But Will Rogers never hurts people. He says he doesn't believe in putting sting in to the things he says. But he packs wisdom there just the same. He is one of the wisest thinkers in America. He is tremendously much of all that America is.

I studied the face of this man. It is set in rough cast like Lincoln's. His eyes are unusually keen. He has a fine nose and a splendid chin. His mouth is rather large so that he is able to get great smiles from it to permeate into the great crowds that roar from his jokes and also to facilitate his ability to throw his gum in unison with his cow-boy rope.

Will Rogers' hands are big, bold and brown. His forehead is very striking in its suggestion of intelligence. College professors would boast of such a head as he carries.

But the biggest thing about this American product is his heart. Will Rogers is loyalty and squareness to the core. I overheard him say that he believed in sticking to those who were fair with him regardless of monetary offers from the outside. This reminded me of a remark made to me by that beloved actor, Frank Bacon. He told me that he was offered a huge sum to act in moving pictures but that he turned it down "because," he said, "you see I am not commercial."

I have never met Will Rogers but some of these days I am going to bury my hand in his for a minute and see what happens!

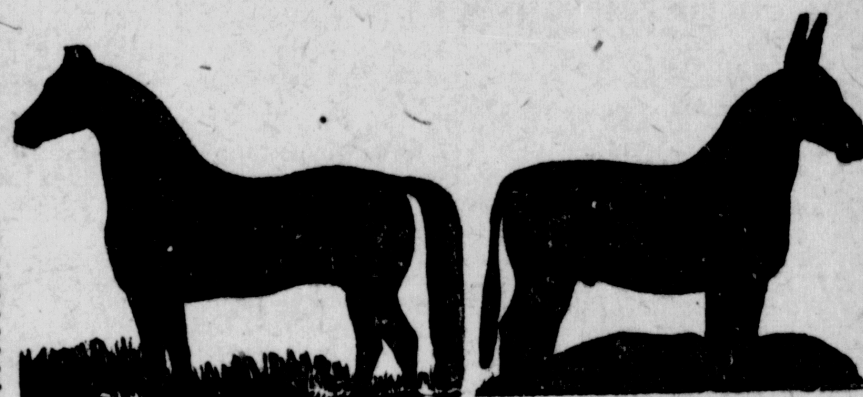

This is no advertisement. Will Rogers needs none. But I can say that the men or women who come to New York and leave without seeing and hearing this comedian of the people, will have missed something out of their lives and will have gone without taking something that belonged to them.

HUGHES RESTRAINS HEAD OF INFIRMARY FROM FIRING HIM

Suit to block an attempt to remove him from his position of farmer at the Greene County Infirmary, has been filed in Common Pleas Court by W. M. Hughes against D. E. Crow, superintendent of the infirmary.

Hughes alleges that an attempt to oust him was made by Crow January 31, 1925, purely for revengeful reasons, growing out of testimony offered by himself against Crow at the recent hearing before the State Civil Service Commission.

Hughes claims no charges have been preferred against him with the State Civil Service Commission nor has Crow given him an opportunity to defend himself.

The plaintiff contends that the defendant is proceeding in an unlawful way since neither he nor the civil service commission have received any papers enumerating the charges.

A temporary restraining order, restraining the defendant from interfering with the plaintiff or his duties as farmer was allowed by Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy. The plaintiff further asks that the defendant be made to proceed according to law and asks that he be permanently enjoined from attempts to discharge him. F. L. Johnson is attorney for Hughes.

MONEY AT WORK

Prior but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

ANOTHER SWINDLE EXPOSED

Buying bonds over the telephone is about as risky for the average man as chewing dynamite.

The average man is apt to place too much importance on the word "bond." He assumes that as long as it is a bond he can buy it from any one. The same man would be much more particular in buying stocks.

Recently, part of the international German loan was sold in this country. The bonds bore a 7 per cent coupon and $110,000,000 of them were sold at 92 to net about 7.7 per cent if held to maturity.

The next day investors received telephone calls from bond men whom they had never heard of, offering them German bonds at 90. These men had a special arrangement with J. P. Morgan which enabled them to make this bargain price, so they said. It developed later that they were selling the old worthless German bonds. Could the average man tell the difference? No, but his banker could.

Health Hints by the Father of Physical Culture

BERNARR MACFADDEN

Convulsions may attend any disorder of the nerves or brain as the complaint progressively develops.

Until the underlying cause which is provocative of the phenomenon of a convulsive seizure is ascertained, the following treatment is to be recommended.

The very first effort that should be made when one suffers an attack of this character, is to see that the patient gets air as pure as obtainable. If he cannot actually be outdoors he should have air equally as pure.

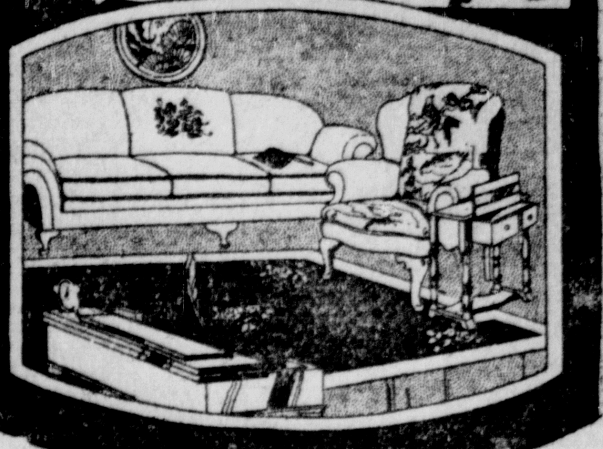

Place patient in a draught if possible. Loosen all clothing about chest and neck that would in the slightest way interfere with breathing, then dash cold water over the face and neck. As a rule this will bring about a return to consciousness. In case it should not, cold water should be applied on three or four occasions; that is, dashed over face and head. Should this not bring consciousness and the patient seem to be fairly comfortable, it would be advisable to apply a hot pack to the spine as soon as it can possibly be prepared. Should the patient apparently be very uncomfortable, indicated by contortions of the body, then in some cases it might be advisable to place a small quantity of dry salt on the back of the tongue, about a quarter or one-eighth of a teaspoonful.

In many cases of attacks of this kind it is impossible to expect the patient to return to consciousness immediately. The application of cold water upon the face and head, and of heat in the way of hot pack to the spine, is about the most effective treatment in the way of bringing about a quick return to consciousness. It is usually well to keep the head up.

A more radical and vigorous treatment, for serious cases, will be found in the complete hot blanket pack, the full hot bath, immersing the entire body except the head in a tub of water at 110 degrees to 115 degrees Fahrenheit, for ten to twenty minutes, and afterward wrapping up well with blankets to keep warm. Cold packs may simultaneously be applied to the head. This treatment is especially recommended in uremic convulsions.

BRIGHT INSURANCE OUTLOOK ROGER W. BABSON DECLARES

POLICIES AND SECURITIES

Babson Park, Mass., Feb. 6 1925—Three years ago Roger W. Babson, the statistician, was severely criticized by many insurance men because he advised certain of his wealthy clients to cash in a portion of their life insurance. He pointed out that good securities were then very low and that it was good business for a man to have as much as possible of his money in bonds. Mr. Babson made it clear that no insurance should be cancelled which in any way jeopardized adequate protection for one's family. He was referring to insurance taken as an investment. Since that time securities have risen sharply in price while life insurance is obtainable for the same figure. In view of this change situation Mr. Babson today issued the following statement:

"As the price of stocks and bonds climbs upward life insurance becomes more attractive as an investment. Of course it has been only during recent years that life insurance has been sold as an investment. It started like fire insurance and other forms of insurance, as a method of mutual protection. Men took out what they needed in order to take care of their families in case of death. It has only been in recent years that insurance has been taken out for corporations, business houses, and estates. Of course protective insurance should be taken out by everyone to a certain amount, and should never be cancelled, cashed in, or switched. If, however, a man gets enough insurance to take care of his family an additional insurance really becomes an investment rather than insurance. Some life insurance men may disagree with this distinction, but I am sure every fair-minded analyst would make it. I mention this distinction because, not being an insurance expert, it is only in relation to such investment insurance that I have any right to speak.

"I have always advised the purchase of insurance for protection, irrespective of what price securities are selling for and whatever the conditions in the security market. A man who needs protection should take out insurance. The only disagreement I have had with insurance agents is due to the fact that investment insurance is less attractive when security prices are low and more attractive when security prices are high. Because investment insurance is always at the same price, it must be judged by what the same money will buy in other forms of investment. In a way it is the mean between the high and low of the security market. This very fact, that it is a mean, is the reason that the large insurance companies are so strong and insurance is so safe.

"Whether or not insurance agents will agree with me as to which was the better investment three years ago, insurance or securities, I am sure they will agree with me now when I say that insurance as an investment is becoming more attractive each day. That is to say, as security prices go up, insurance which remains at a constant figure, becomes more attractive as an investment. The truth is, that when stocks and bonds cross the average normal line on the upward movement, insurance, becomes an attractive investment. This especially applies to twenty payment life and various forms of endowment insurance which get a fixed sum of money on a specified date.

"I believe that 1925 will be a good bond year and that many issues will see higher prices than they have already reached, but I also believe that investors should take account of stock as to their insurance holdings. No man should have all his investments in stocks, bonds, insurance, real estate, or any other one thing. All of one's capital in Government bonds is not a sane method of investing. Diversification is the basis of the soundest method of investing. The point I wish to make today is that in diversifying consider insurance as a possible investment for a portion of your surplus funds during 1925.

"In purchasing endowment insurance use some sense as to maturity. For instance, in paying a $20,000 endowment policy a man should consider his age in determining the duration of the policy. It is apt to be more dangerous than beneficial to have a $20,000, twenty year policy mature when he is forty. On the other hand, it is unreasonable for a man of fifty to take out a twenty year policy. In taking out a $20,000 endowment policy it is best to arrange the maturities so that $2000 will come due when you are sixty, $2000 when you are sixty-one, $2000 when you are sixty-two, and so forth until you are seventy. Then as you can afford additional insurance have it mature in a similar series of years beginning when you are seventy.

"I am hopeful of the insurance business for the next few years. I believe all the large companies will do a record business and wide awake, honest agents should prosper with their companies. I am very optimistic on the stocks of most of the large insurance companies. The insurance business has developed to stupendous proportions yet it is still in its infancy when judged by its possibilities. Moreover, under careful government supervision of the insurance companies, and the fact that they are officered and directed by capable, conscientious men, should make their securities, as well as their policies, sound investments for a portion of your surplus funds."

ZIMMERMAN

Herman Williamson, of Evanston, Ill., spent Sunday and Monday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Williamson at Shoups' Station. Miss Glenna Tanner of Dayton, was also a guest at the Williamson home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Koogler spent Sunday a week ago with the latter's brothers-in-law and twin sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Huber Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Campbell at Belmont. William Zimmerman and wife of near Piqua, attended church at this place Sunday morning and visited his father, Cornelius Zimmerman and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Koogler entertained at dinner, Sunday, Rev. Eldemiller, Mr. and Mrs. Lester of Belmont and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Koogler.

A concert of sacred music, consisting of solos, duets and quartets will be given by the Apollo Quartet at the church in Zimmerman Sunday evening, February 8 at 7:30. The Quartet which is said to be very good, is composed of three young men from South Charleston and one from New Carlisle, who are training for Lyceum work. All are cordially invited to come and hear them. No admission will be charged.

Much regret is felt by the boys and by those interested in the boys and young people of the neighborhood and church, at the loss of Rev. E. W. Moyer, who has resigned as pastor of Beaver and Mt. Zion Churches. Few ministers are endowed with the gift of winning the confidence and affection of the boys in such large measure as has Rev. Moyer during his stay in Beavercreek where he has been active in Boy Scout work, and in promoting the Daily Vacation Bible School and other things especially for the youth and children of the community. His leaving will be a very distinct loss to neighborhood, and the boys indeed are grieved at the coming loss of their friend, pal and counsellor, and their parents likewise, for one who has been indeed a present helper in keeping their boys in the path of right and away from temptations and bad company.

Rev. Moyer and his talented and estimable wife, leave March 1, for their new field of labor in Southern Kentucky and their friends in Beavercreek wish for them success in large measure in their new pastorate.

Charles Wetzel had a sale of household effects at his residence in Zimmerman, Friday afternoon. He will make his home with his sons and daughter, Dan Wetzel, in Dayton, William near Trotwood; Elmer at Bellbrook and Mrs. Allen Love in Dayton. He has rented his house in Zimmerman.

Relatives in Big Woods Neighborhood made up a wood-cutting party at the farm occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Miller near Yellow Springs. Mr. Miller and three children have been ill with scarlet fever, which was followed by flu in Mr. Miller's case. The home is still under quarantine.

Why A Woman's Age Shows In Her Hands

A noted beauty specialist recently said that she could invariably judge a woman's age by her hands. Worry and hard work often shows in the hands when it does not show in the face, and as a rule women give more attention to their face than to their hands. The hands however, should not be neglected because pretty, soft, white hands are really the true mark of refinement, and they should be cared for. Any woman can have beautiful, white soft, pretty hands, regardless of the work she has to do, if she will simply spend a minute or two just before retiring, rubbing a little plain ice-mint on them. In the morning she will be greatly surprised at the pleasant transformation that has been wrought by even a single application. Ice-mint is made from a Japanese product that is simply marvelous for its beautifying properties whether used on the hands or face. Regardless of what kind of work a woman does, she should have pretty hands. As the hands, if neglected are bound to show the hard work and worry of our lives. A few applications of Ice-mint will actually make any woman proud of her hands and skin. It costs little and is sold and recommended by good druggists everywhere. Adv.

WHEN A NEW LAW IS NEEDED
Occasionally our graduate wisemen tell us that the legislature might well take a vacation for five years as we have too much legislation as things are. It is doubtful if one man in ten can answer the simple question, "When is a new law needed?"

The answer may be brief and yet correct. Whenever unselfish but competent observers discover that a type of social behavior already adopted by a few people has proven successful and beneficial; and whenever this type of behavior gives promise of value for the great mass of the population then it may be formulated as a law. These two conditions may throw the door too widely open for new legislation. If so we may add that legislation should be proposed when the public mind is open to educational preparation for its execution; when the evils to be remedied have become glaring enough to furnish ample argument for the new law; when the principle involved in the new law has been already effectively carried out in previous legislation.

It is not necessary for legislatures to postpone action until the majority of the citizens demand it, nor until the enemies of the proposed legislation have been convinced of its justice. In fact a minority of citizens always has determined the course of political life and always will.

THE dog show was brand new to Cynthia, and most interesting. She stood clutching the top rail of the fence while the judge walked about, looking at the Newfoundlands, and then watched while the dogs walked and ran around the ring.

Finally, as the dogs were lined up in front of the judge, Graham glanced up at Cynthia and smiled. "Oh, I do hope his dog wins!" she whispered to Jim. "It's such a beautiful one! How thrilling it must be to go in there with your own dog and wonder if he'll win!"

She stopped, then suddenly joined in the applause that had broken out all around the ring. The judge had handed the blue ribbon to Philip Graham.

"How wonderful!" She waved to Graham, and hurried down to the gate at the end of the fence to shake hands with Graham as he came out. Jim followed more slowly. The dog show was all right, of course—still, he didn't exactly like having Cynthia rush after this fellow so enthusiastically. What if they had known each other years before!

Cynthia and Graham walked back toward him, the huge dog ambling beside them.

"Jim, what do you think? Phil says he'll give me a dog. Isn't that gorgeous?" Cynthia cried. "I can't think of anything I'd rather have."

Jim mumbled something. A Newfoundland in their house? What in the world would they do with it?

"And, Jim, Phil can stay all night with us! Isn't that great?" Cynthia went on. "He has to be here for two days longer. Oh, it's so nice to see you again, Phil. After you rushed off to Europe—"

She stopped abruptly, flushing. Phil Graham glanced away from her as abruptly. To both had come the same memory, that of the evening when he had asked her to marry him, and she, divided between embarrassment and delight, had told him that she was engaged to Jim.

"By George, there's a good dog!" Phil cut in, breaking the uncomfortable silence. "That Airdale over there. He's likely to win in his class. Isn't he a corker?" he added, to Jim.

"Sure is." Jim was not too enthusiastic. "It's great that you can come to us tonight, Graham. Fine to have you."

He and Cynthia sauntered on, looking at the other dogs, while Phil put his own back in its place, to join them later near the door. As they all left the building Jim looked at his wife curiously. She seemed to have regained the gaiety and sparkle that she had so mysteriously lost of late. Had Phil Graham been responsible for this? he asked himself. He did not doubt for a moment that his wife loved him; in fact, Cynthia's adoration was some-

SENATE HEARING ON HOME ENDS FRIDAY

EXECUTIVE ON STAND FRIDAY MORNING HERE

Session Ends at 2:30 Fri-
day—Board Members
Heard at Session

Hearing by a senate committee of charges against administration of the O. S. and S. O. Home here, terminated abruptly at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. Frank Allen, Washington C. H., Charles Gebauer, Cleveland and D. Q. Morrow, of Hillsboro, members of the trustee board, were questioned Friday afternoon. Mrs. Garver was not called. At the conclusion of the testimony Chairman Marshall declared the preliminary hearing at an end. A number of witnesses summoned, were paid and dismissed without being heard. The hearing will be resumed in Columbus either Monday or Tuesday when Superintendent Garver will again be called, it is said.

Sylvius Garver, superintendent of the O. S. and S. O. Home, who is under fire in the senate committee investigation of administration conditions at the institution, was on the stand for two and one-half hours before the committee Friday morning.

His testimony delayed the noon recess, which was not taken until after 12:30 o'clock. Senator L. T. Marshall, Xenia, chairman of the committee, refused to divulge the nature of Garver's testimony, as the hearing is secret, but said he had been questioned at length on the charges filed by National Guard officers who conducted a preliminary investigation some time ago.

Mrs. Garver, wife of the superintendent and chief matron of the institution, was expected to take the stand at the afternoon session. The testimony of both is thought to consist of categorical denials of the charges made and the testimony of other witnesses.

Dr. W. H. Finley, Xenia, was the first witness called Friday morning and Professor W. S. Sackett, superintendent of Home schools, followed him. Fifteen or sixteen witnesses were examined by the committee during three sessions Thursday, a night session being decided upon at the last minute.

At the close of the afternoon session all of the members of the committee with the exception of Chairman Marshall, visited the Home. Many of them had never seen the institution. They were received graciously by the institution heads and taken for a tour of inspection but did not dine at the Home.

Senator Marshall indicated Thursday night that a system of propaganda had been inaugurated to defeat the purposes of the hearing, because of the fact it is being held in star chamber session. The visit of Charles Gebauer, Cleveland, member of the board, was said to be preliminary to the trustee board meeting Saturday. However, he visited the scene of the hearing Thursday afternoon but was not admitted to the committee chamber. He is said to have told newspaper men that the board will launch an investigation of its own if the committee finds questionable conditions at the institution.

Inability to pin down witnesses at the hearing to a statement of conditions of which they have actual knowledge, is said to have interfered with success of the probe. Numerous rumors float are believed to have colored the heads of witnesses and the committee has been handicapped in wading through a mass of unsupported information to get the real facts.

It was believed the hearing would be concluded Friday afternoon in Xenia, and will be resumed probably in Columbus next week. Frank Allen, Washington C. H., member of the board of trustees, was expected to testify Friday afternoon. Although his term expired last April, his successor has never been named, it is said.

The hearing is being held in the quarters of Company L, 147th, Infantry, National Guard, East Main Street.

MITCHELL TAKES LID OFF AIRCRAFT PROBE WITH STARTLING CHARGES

Washington, Feb. 6.—Brigadier General Mitchell took the lid off the aircraft investigation today with a bang and clatter that shocked official Washington.

Bringing his fight for a greater air service into the open, General Mitchell charged flatly that not only are the war and navy departments inefficiently conducting their air services, but that the navy deliberately hindered the air bombing experiments conducted by the joint army-navy air services off the Virginia capes in 1921.

General Mitchell's grave and at the same time sensational charges were laid before the special congressional committee that is investigating the aircraft situation. They were also contained in a letter which the "flying general" sent to Secretary of War Weeks in reply to Weeks' recent demand that Mitchell "explain" some of his recent statements on the air service.

So serious were the charges made by Mitchell today against the administration of the navy department, that it is regarded as certain there will be a greater and more far-reaching investigation, which may cost the heads of some of the higher ranking officers of the navy, and perhaps that of Mitchell himself.

Mitchell defied tradition and precedent by tearing aside the veil of secrecy that for several years has shielded the bombing tests off the

Washington, Feb. 6.—The United States today withdrew from the international opium conference at Geneva it was announced at the state department.

Official permission was telegraphed to Stephen G. Porter, head of the American delegation to withdraw and return home.

President Coolidge himself granted the American delegation permission to withdraw, it was revealed at the state department, because it became apparent that there was no hope of the conference fulfilling the promises it had made to erect really effective barriers to the opium traffic.

The following announcement was made by the department:

"This government has received from the American delegation to the opium conference now in session at Geneva, a report to the effect that that conference cannot be expected to reach an agreement which would be satisfactory to this government as carrying out the purposes of The Hague opium convention of 1912, or acceptable to it as according the purpose set forth in the joint resolution of congress of May 15, last, which used the participation of this government in the present conference.

"The President, has, therefore to his regret, found it necessary to authorize the American delegation to withdraw from further participation in the conference at the discretion of the chairman, the Hon. Stephen G. Porter.

"The department of state is in receipt of this morning of a telegram stating that Mr. Porter presented his letters of withdrawal at 10:30 a. m. today."

Judge Glenn held the state's evidence was purely circumstantial and declared the prosecution failed to show a motive for the alleged crime. The verdict liberating the aged prisoner was announced about 15 minutes after the judge had instructed the jury to free Mrs. M'Curdy.

A wild demonstration which spread out of the courtroom into the corridors, greeted the announced of the verdict. The demonstration continued 30 minutes.

Reidt told followers today that he was tired of being misrepresented. He said he wished it understood that he had not predicted the earth would sink into oblivion on the stroke of twelve. It will be gradual and awful, he said.

The apostle believes he will be presented with a golden harp upon his arrival in Heaven. Until he gets that instrument, he confided, he will make music with his zither, while travelling with his cohorts on the clouds.

EXPECT FIGHT IN HOUSE OVER TAFT PLAN NEXT WEEK

Would Give Reference Committee Power Over New Bills

Columbus, O., Feb. 6.—A spirited fight is forecast in the house early next week over a proposal by Majority Floor Leader Taft to give the reference committee broad powers over the introduction of bills.

The proposed amendment to the house rules, which will, probably come up for adoption in the house next Tuesday, would completely alter the system of introduction of bills in the house and would give the committee a censorship power which would permit it to shut out "frivolous" or unimportant bills, duplications, or those sponsored with improper motives and would authorize it to incorporate provisions of bills into others already received.

The proposed rule was referred to the rules committee when introduced late Thursday.

The senate early next week is expected to finally reach the question of the confirmation of T. J. Duffy, re-appointed by Governor Donahey, as a member of the state industrial commission and of other appointments by the governor.

The senate late Thursday passed a series of five bills covering minor changes in the code covering real estate transfers, received two bills and adjourned until 7:30 o'clock Monday night. The house passed three bills of minor importance and received 17 bills.

GRATING OVER MICROPHONE IS PROOF OF LIFE

Efforts Renewed To Effect Rescue By Mine Shaft

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 6.—"Try alive."

This was the message from the bowels of Sand Cave today read in the faint staccato ticking of a microphone. It was the message made possible by that miracle of the age—radio, and it rekindled the spark of hope and faith which as the dawn of the seventh day of futile rescue efforts broke over these cavernous hills, was dwindling to the vanishing point.

Floyd Collins lives.

The word spread like wildfire through this little town.

It was the morning greeting of the grim faced men who walk about its streets. Even the putt putt of gas engine, sounding strangely foreign as they toiled among virgin rock about the floor of the cave pit seemed to be shouting:

"He lives! He lives! He lives!"

And the furious digging, which through the night had put the "dead or alive" shaft down a total of approximately fifteen feet, took on a new aspect of grim determination. It was W. H. Riley of Bowling Green, and Morton Weldy, of Glasgow, who brought about the revival of hope.

They arrived here last night with a double radio amplifier—really a microphone in the strict sense of the word—a phone attachment which greatly magnifies all sound coming into it.

The apparatus was moved to the cave and was cut into the circuit which goes down into the cave beyond the point where humans are now able to penetrate—two copper strands forming the only link between Collins and the world from which for seven days he has been separated by rock and sand as he lay imprisoned in a narrow crevice by a seven ton boulder.

A little group of men stood by near a flickering campfire as Riley attacked the phones. He listened a moment and announced the cave gave forth no sounds.

Then as he listened, the plant installed on the crest of the cliff to provide power for the line was suddenly cut off.

Riley at the phones raised his hands for quiet. A sharp staccato order was given.

Into the phones came one sharp snap, followed by a silence and then a series of grating sounds—rrrr—rrrr—rrrr—Floyd Collins was talking in the unmistakable language from the depths of the earth.

Lights were flashed on again—and they brought silence to the phones.

The experiment was tried again and again the grating in the phones came as darkness settled down on the cave, but this time after a moment or two, it ceased.

Lights flared again and the silence continued.

A third repetition of the test brought only a continuation of the silence. Then Riley interpreted the language of the phones.

The light socket above the point where Collins lies is known to be loose. It was found impossible, because of the nature of working conditions and the cave roof to place it firmly. Thus, Riley said, it duplicated the conditions of the loosened light bulb at the farm house.

When the lights were first turned off, Riley believes the shock of sudden darkness frightened Collins and he involuntarily jumped as much as his pined position would permit. It was enough, he thinks to send the first sharp snap into the phones.

Then as darkness continued, Riley believes Collins decided something had gone wrong with the fixture and attempted by fumbling against it to adjust it. This was the first rumbling that the phones gave forth.

When the lights came on again, Riley thinks Collins believed his efforts had been successful and fearing to again extinguish the light lay unusually still.

And the phones told of this.

They remained mute.

The second period of darkness brought a repetition of the movements less lengthy than before because the prisoner was growing tired.

When the lights came on again, through no effort of his, Riley believes Collins concluded some sort of experiment was being made and therefore refrained from further attempts to move the light. Thus the phones were silent.

Collins had delivered his message.

LARGE AUDIENCE GREET'S "FOLLOW ME" PERFORMANCE

A large audience greeting the one night engagement of the colored musical comedy, "Follow Me," at the Opera House Wednesday night, was sufficient proof of the show's popularity in theatrical circles.

Cliff Ross and Eddie Mathews, the featured funmakers, the former enacting the role of the "strutter" while the latter cast as the droll comedian, were thoroughly enjoyed by the audience that packed the theatre to see the 1925 edition of the musical creation. The performance abounded with quaint originality.

Uncle Washington delighted her hearers with several luring tunes with which the speedy colorful offering had in store.

"Nothing seemed to interest her"

By the end of the second act she wished she were home in bed. She was tired—always tired. That fact showed in her face. And "she" may be multiplied by tens of thousands of women in America. For it was the world's most universal disease that was sapping her strength and killing her interest. . . . It is good to know that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has brought permanent relief to thousands of sufferers from constipation.

When ALL-BRAN travels through the system, its fiber remains unchanged. Therefore, it can sweep the intestine clean. It can absorb and carry moisture through the intestinal tract and stimulate it to natural, healthy action. ALL-BRAN is what doctors call a bulk food.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is delightful with milk or cream, sprinkled over other cereals; cooked with hot cereals; in soups, or made into the many recipes given on every package. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to bring permanent relief or the grocer returns the purchase price. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal.

Be sure to get Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Only ALL-BRAN brings sure results. You can see that a part-bran product can, at best, be but partially effective.

Kellogg's is the original and only ALL-BRAN. It is the bran which doctors recommend. Accept no other if you would be sure. All grocers sell it. Leading hotels and restaurants serve it. Buy a package of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN today.

Your Income Tax

No. 14

The revenue act of 1924 provides that in computing net income there may be deducted from gross income "a reasonable allowance for the exhaustion, wear, and tear of property used in trade or business, including a reasonable allowance for obsolescence." For convenience this allowance is usually referred to as "depreciation." The deduction is confined to property actually used in a business, trade, profession, or vocation. In general it applies to capital assets, the cost of which can not be deducted as an expense. For example, a lawyer or physician is not permitted to write off as a current expense the cost of his professional library, but may deduct an allowance for its depreciation.

Deductions are not allowed for depreciation of taxpayer's home, the furnishings therein, his personal effects or clothing. Costumes used exclusively in the theatrical business, however, may be the subject of a depreciation allowance.

Depreciation in the value of land, whether improved or unimproved, can not be claimed. No amount may be included for depreciation representing reduction in value of property due to changes in environment—for example, loss in rental due to a change in the social or business condition of the neighborhood. Neither is any change in the amount or rate of depreciation allowable on account of an increase or decrease in the market value of property. Fluctuation of property has no bearing upon the rate or amount allowable for depreciation.

Intangibles, the use of which in trade or business is definitely limited in duration may be the subject of a depreciation allowance. Examples are patents, copyrights, licenses, and franchises.

Rice Christians

Suppose Paul and the first missionaries of Christianity had traveled East instead of West? Look at the frightful conditions today in the Orient without Christianity and then picture America and your own probable environment if those missionaries had gone east to India and China instead of west to Europe and America.

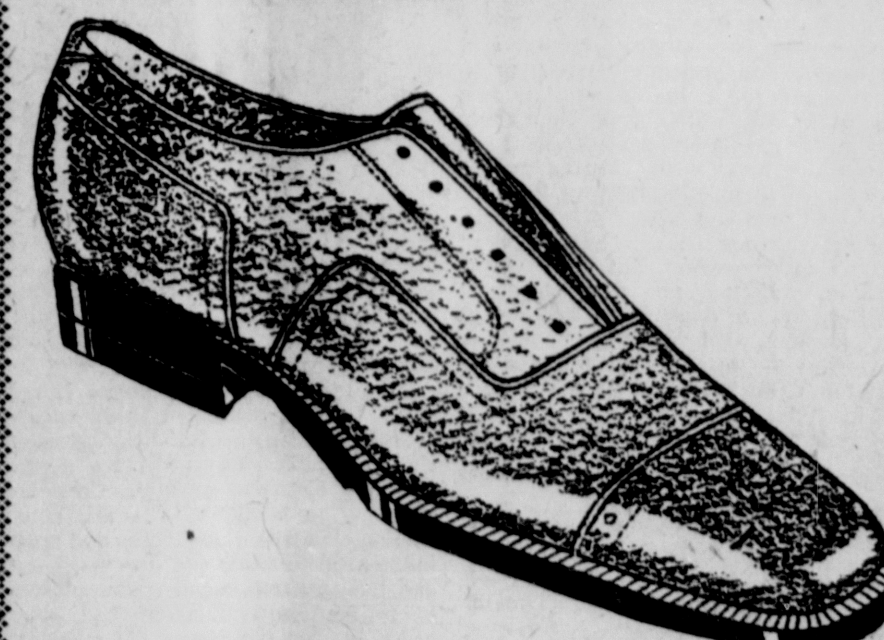

When a man in India confesses Christianity only because he sees that Christians usually have more to eat and know how to live better than their non-Christian friends, they call him a Rice Christian.

There are a lot of Rice Christians in the United States. They sit around and enjoy all the privileges of living in a Christian civilization and shirk the responsibilities of the Church and representatives of Jesus Christ who made such privileges possible. Get out of the Rice Christian class! Be an active church member!

Hear Dr. George Hugh Birney Sunday afternoon 2:30 on "God or Gorilla—Which?" Sunday night 7:00 "The Man of Galilee." The closing service of the revival.

Charles Ray's Greatest Achievement

The Courtship of Myles Standish

Nine months in the making. Cost more than $800,000 to produce. Eighty-seven name parts. The film classic of the age. Romantic coloring. The deeds and days of the Pilgrims produced amid thrills and realism. The epic poem transplanted to the screen in stupendous fascinating scenes complete in every detail. The love story irresistible. The picture that should live forever.

—The Story—

History and literature have handed down no greater or more famous love story than that written by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow in his immortal poem, "The Courtship of Myles Standish." Brought to the screen, it presents Charles Ray in his greatest role. He displays rare and consummate skill, true genius and personality in the characterization of the dashing young Pilgrim adventurer, John Alden, who faces a thousand deaths courageously, but can't speak his love for the beautiful maiden, Priscilla Mullins. The picture will live forever.

DISEASE

Dr. R. H. Grube, county health commissioner, speaking before the Greene County Medical Society, declares that although scarlet fever has been a menace to health for hundreds of years, a curative serum has just now been demonstrated effective in checking the disease.

The statement shows another forward step taken in the world of medical science, which has done so much to drive the epidemic plague from the world and to preserve health. Not so many years ago, physicians were helpless before many of the diseases that are now so effectively combatted that they have ceased to be the constant menace they were in the past.

The constant application of science, to a study of the cause and cure of the serious forms of disease, has resulted in equipping physicians with the scientific medicinal means to save lives now that would have been helplessly sacrificed not so many years ago.

RED TAPE

The very frank charge of Brigadier General William Mitchell of the American air service that army and navy officers are "muzzled" and "gagged" by their superiors when it comes to giving testimony before a congressional committee, should be followed up with an investigation designed to bring a halt to this modern form of tyranny.

The system of red tape in the government departments, and especially in the army and navy bureaus, has long been well known but it is time that the application of military and naval discipline to prevent officers telling the truth in a government probe, should be brought to a stop.

A mighty good opportunity to cut some of this army red tape presented itself in Alaska, when the cry came forth from diphtheria stricken Nome, to rush anti-toxin. Because a government plane could not be used for that purpose without obtaining permission from the government, dog teams were mushed over the trackless wastes of this far north territory in bitterly cold weather, in an effort to save lives in the stricken city.

Use of an airplane would not only have speeded up help for the city, but would have been applauded so vigorously by the good people of these states, that the war department would have been laughed to shame had it so much as suggested that the action was a grave breach of discipline.

WORRY

Worry about civilization and races and other large aspects of the world is taking the place of the old brand of worries about diet and the health and similar trivialities. William J. Perry, a British authority on cultural anthropology, has started a fresh line of worry about the fate of the Nordics. Supporting his disquieting thesis are some social statistics showing that blondes are vanishing from the scene in cities and giving place to short dark-haired people. The Nordic blonde does well in the country, says Professor Perry, but succumbs under the average conditions of metropolitan life. The blue-eyed Nordic also is on the wane while the brown-eyed brunette holds up better. Fortunately for the American Nordic, the decline of the blue and the blonde is more immediately menacing in England and London is to be the first victim of the racial shift. But no doubt it will attack us here sooner or later.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

WHO HAS ONCE BEEN POOR

To riches he was born, and so. There's much of life he doesn't know. The pinch of poverty and pain. The struggle, oftentimes in vain. A little higher up to get. Beyond the wolves of want and debt. The thousand cares from day to day. Which poor men meet along the way. The makeshifts of the slender purse. The countless woes I could rehearse. All these make up the cruel list. Of tragedies which he has missed.

Not him I blame for failing quite. To understand the poor man's plight. To riches he was born, and so. The pinch of want he doesn't know. But him I blame, who once was poor. And gaining wealth becomes a boor. Who, freed from misery, want and pain.

Ne'er feels the hurt of them again. And dares to treat with cruel scorn. The misery he himself has borne. Or never give a helping hand. To cares, which he must understand.

MOTHER WORLD: "HOW LONG AM I GOING TO HAVE THAT ON MY MIND?"

1905-Twenty Years Ago-1925

It was announced today that there will be a fox chase on Saturday, Feb. 11, to begin at Ed Schmidt's ice pond at 10:30 o'clock. A fine, lively fox has been captured and will be turned loose at that time.

The grip has been getting in its work at the city work house and a number of the prisoners at the institution have been under the spell of the diminutive microbe.

One of the largest audiences that has been present at the opera house in a long time attended the play, "Way Down East," which was in Xenia Tuesday night.

O. E. Bradfute, of Cedarville, will address the farmers in Wilmington Saturday on the topic, "Co-operation."

Cream together one-half cup of butter and three-quarters of a cup of granulated sugar; add the beaten yolks of two eggs and one-fourth teaspoon of orange extract. Mix together one-half cup of chopped English walnuts, one cup of drained, stewed and chopped prunes, and one cup of pastry flour and a very little over three-fourths extra cupful of the same flour, sifted with three teaspoons of baking powder. Dissolve one-fourth teaspoon of soda in one-half cup of prune juice, and mix all these ingredients together into a batter, folding in two stiffly whipped egg whites last. Bake 40 minutes in a moderate oven.

Reader Friends have asked me for the following recipes:

(For "Mrs. S.") Glazed Sweet Potatoes: Boil or steam sweet potatoes till they are tender, then peel and cut them lengthwise in thick slices. Place these slices in a buttered pan, cover with bits of butter, sprinkle generously with brown sugar and a little cinnamon ground, and bake till a rich brown in a good oven.

(For "Mrs. T.") Coconut Pie Filling: Separate the whites from the yolks of three eggs. Beat the yolks with one-half cup of white sugar; add one heaping teaspoon of butter melted, one-half teaspoon of vanilla, two cups of sweet milk and four teaspoons of shredded coconut. Line a deep pie pan with ordinary pie crust and turn this filling into it. Bake like any egg-filling pie (that is, slipping the pie into a hot oven at first, to set the crust, but after a few minutes reducing the oven heat to "medium," and continuing baking at this moderate temperature during the entire 40 minutes which are required for the baking. (If a pie with egg in it is allowed to boil up while baking it will be sure to "weary").

Serious operation avoided

Resinol healed stubborn sore

Elyria, Ohio, March 1:—"I feel it my duty and pleasure to thank you for the wonderful cure your Resinol salve has wrought for my husband, who suffered from an open sore on the back of his neck for four years. Several doctors said that it was a cancer and advised its removal, but it was so near the base of the brain that we feared an operation. I had found Resinol Ointment so effective for cuts, burns and similar things that I induced my husband to try that. After using only two jars of Resinol, the sore entirely healed—every trace of it has disappeared. Resinol certainly was a God-send to us!" (Signed) Mrs. E. E. Kennedy, 243 E. 8th St.

-to build up Weight!

ANY WOMAN, any man, can now have a well-developed face and form. The whole, simple secret of a well-developed form is in the number of blood-cells in your body. You can now forget all the theoretical talk about diet, exercise, fad treatments, food-fats and fat-foods. Nothing is of any use, after all, except blood-cells!

Thin, run-down men and women, with bony necks, sunken cheeks, bony shoulders—all these are suffering from one thing—too few blood-cells. Science has proved that S.S.S. helps to make the rich red blood-cells, which you need. Your blood is starving for these new blood-cells! Give your blood the blood-cells it needs—take S.S.S. the great scientific blood-maker. S.S.S. has done marvels, too, in making beautiful complexions, clearing the skin, making lips rosy red, the cheeks full and plump—because it rids the blood of impurities which cause pimples, blackheads, acne, blotches, eczema, tetters, rash and rheumatism, too. As the medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable, it may be taken with perfect safety. This is why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. Start taking S.S.S. today and your great problem, that of your personal appearance, can be solved.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Today's Talks

WILL ROGERS

I like to write about living men and women. I like to thank them while they live for the inspiration they radiate.

Today I sat a few feet from Will Rogers, the cow-boy comedian, and saw him chew his gum and spread his pokes and "gags" so thick that they blew up the room with laughter—the kind of laughter that covers your face with tears.

If anybody else had said the things he said in a serious mood they would have sent for the police. But Will Rogers never hurts people. He says he doesn't believe in putting sting in to the things he says. But he packs wisdom there just the same. He is one of the wisest thinkers in America. He is tremendously much of all that America is.

I studied the face of this man. It is set in rough cast like Lincoln's. His eyes are unusually keen. He has a fine nose and a splendid chin. His mouth is rather large so that he is able to get great smiles from it to permeate into the great crowds that roar from his jokes and also to facilitate his ability to throw his gum in unison with his cow-boy rope. Will Rogers' hands are big, bold and brown. His forehead is very striking in its suggestion of intelligence. College professors would boast of such a head as he carries.

But the biggest thing about this American product is his heart. Will Rogers is loyalty and squareness to the core. I overheard him say that he believed in sticking to those who were fair with him regardless of monetary offers from the outside. This reminded me of a remark made to me by that beloved actor, Frank Bacon. He told me that he was offered a huge sum to act in moving pictures but that he turned it down "because," he said, "you see I am not commercial."

I have never met Will Rogers but some of these days I am going to bury my hand in his for a minute and see what happens!

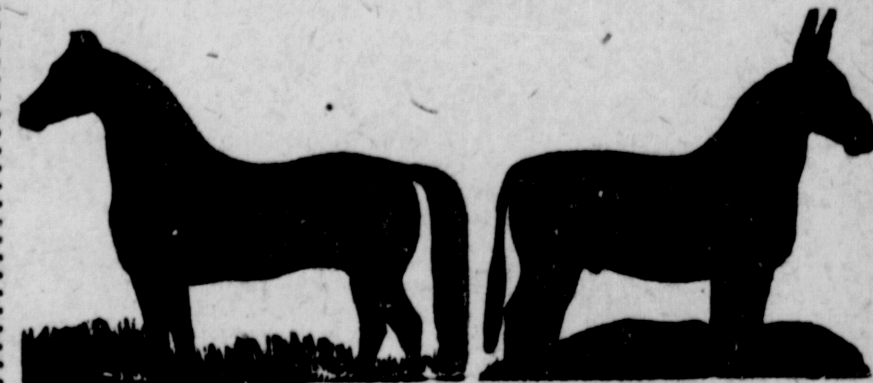

This is no advertisement. Will Rogers needs none. But I can say that the men or women who come to New York and leave without seeing and hearing this comedian of the people, will have missed something out of their lives and will have gone without taking something that belonged to them.

HUGHES RESTRAINS HEAD OF INFIRMARY FROM FIRING HIM

Suit to block an attempt to remove him from his position of farmer at the Greene County Infirmary, has been filed in Common Pleas Court by W. M. Hughes against D. E. Crow, superintendent of the infirmary.

Hughes alleges that an attempt to oust him was made by Crow January 21, 1925, purely for revengeful reasons, growing out of testimony offered by himself against Crow at the recent hearing before the State Civil Service Commission.

Hughes claims no charges have been preferred against him with the State Civil Service Commission nor has Crow given him an opportunity to defend himself.

The plaintiff contends that the defendant is proceeding in an unlawful way since neither he nor the civil service commission has received any papers enumerating the charges.

A temporary restraining order, restraining the defendant from interfering with the plaintiff or his duties as farmer was allowed by Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy. The plaintiff further asks that the defendant be made to proceed according to law and asks that he be permanently enjoined from attempts to discharge him. F. L. Johnson is attorney for Hughes.

MONEY AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

ANOTHER SWINDLE EXPOSED

Buying bonds over the telephone is about as risky for the average man as chewing dynamite.

The average man is apt to place too much importance on the word "bond." He assumes that as long as it is a bond he can buy it from any one. The same man would be much more particular in buying stocks.

Recently, part of the international German loan was sold in this country. The bonds bore a 7 per cent coupon and $110,000,000 of them were sold at 92 to net about 7.7 per cent if held to maturity.

The next day investors received telephone calls from bond men whom they had never heard of, offering them German bonds at 90. These men had a special arrangement with J. P. Morgan which enabled them to make this bargain price, so they said.

It developed later that they were selling the old worthless German bonds. Could the average man tell the difference? No, but his banker could.

Germany's New Premier in First Picture.

DR. HANS LUTHER

This is the first picture to reach the United States of Dr. Hans Luther, who was called upon by President Ebert to form a new German Cabinet to succeed the Marx Ministry. Dr. Luther was formerly Minister of Finance and has long been prominently identified with German public affairs.

SUN WEAKER

Pekin, Feb. 6.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen, South China dictator, was in a critical condition again today. Despite use of radium as a palliative, Sun was growing weaker and slight hope was held for improvement.

Convulsions may attend any disorder of the nerves or brain as the complaint progressively develops.

Until the underlying cause which is provocative of the phenomenon of a convulsive seizure is ascertained, the following treatment is to be recommended.

The very first effort that should be made when one suffers an attack of this character, is to see that the patient gets air as pure as obtainable. If he cannot actually be outdoors he should have air equally as pure.

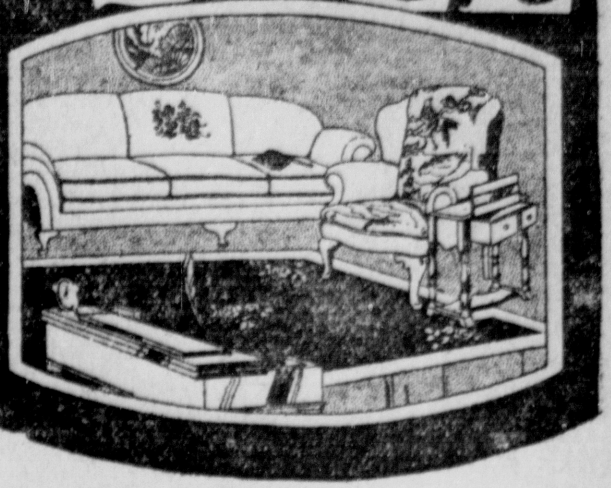

Place patient in a draught if possible. Loosen all clothing about chest and neck that would in the slightest way interfere with breathing, then dash cold water over the face and neck. As a rule this will bring about a return to consciousness. In case it should not, cold water should be applied on three or four occasions; that is, dashed over face and head. Should this not bring consciousness and the patient seem to be fairly comfortable, it would be advisable to apply a hot pack to the spine as soon as it can possibly be prepared. Should the patient apparently be very uncomfortable, indicated by contortions of the body, then in some cases it might be advisable to place a small quantity of dry salt on the back of the tongue, about a quarter or one-eighth of a teaspoonful.

In many cases of attacks of this kind it is impossible to expect the patient to return to consciousness immediately. The application of cold water upon the face and head, and of heat in the way of hot pack to the spine, is about the most effective treatment in the way of bringing about a quick return to consciousness. It is usually well to keep the head up.

A more radical and vigorous treatment, for serious cases, will be found in the complete hot blanket pack, the full hot bath, immersing the entire body except the head in a tub of water at 110 degrees to 115 degrees Fahrenheit, for ten to twenty minutes, and afterward wrapping up well with blankets to keep warm. Cold packs may simultaneously be applied to the head. This treatment is especially recommended in uraemic convulsions.

BRIGHT INSURANCE OUTLOOK ROGER W. BABSON DECLARES

POLICIES AND SECURITIES

Babson Park, Mass., Feb. 6 1925—Three years ago Roger W. Babson, the statistician, was severely criticized by many insurance men because he advised certain of his wealthy clients to cash in a portion of their life insurance. He pointed out that good securities were then very low and that it was good business for a man to have as much as possible of his money in bonds. Mr. Babson made it clear that no insurance should be cancelled which in any way jeopardized adequate protection for one's family. He was referring to insurance taken as an investment. Since that time securities have risen sharply in price while life insurance is obtainable for the same figure. In view of this change situation Mr. Babson today issued the following statement:

"As the price of stocks and bonds climbs upward life insurance becomes more attractive as an investment. Of course it has been only during recent years that life insurance has been sold as an investment. It started like fire insurance and other forms of insurance, as a method of mutual protection. Men took out what they needed in order to take care of their families in case of death. It has only been in recent years that insurance has been taken out for corporations, business houses, and estates. Of course protective insurance should be taken out by everyone to a certain amount, and should never be cancelled, cashed in, or switched. If, however, a man gets enough insurance to take care of his family any additional insurance really becomes an investment rather than insurance. Some life insurance men may disagree with this distinction, but I am sure every fair-minded analyst would make it. I mention this distinction because, not being an insurance expert, it is only in relation to such investment insurance that I have any right to speak.

"I have always advised the purchase of insurance for protection, irrespective of what price securities are selling for and whatever the conditions in the security market. A man who needs protection should take out insurance. The only disagreement I have had with insurance agents is due to the fact that investment insurance is less attractive when security prices are low and more attractive when security prices are high. Because investment insurance is always at the same price, it must be judged by what the same money will buy in other forms of investment. In a way it is the mean between the high and low of the security market. This very fact, that it is a mean, is the reason that the large insurance companies are so strong and insurance is so safe.

"Whether or not insurance agents will agree with me as to which was the better investment three years ago, insurance or securities, I am sure they will agree with me now when I say that insurance as an investment is becoming more attractive each day. That is to say, as security prices go up, insurance which remains at a constant figure, becomes more attractive as an investment. The truth is, that when stocks and bonds cross the average normal line on the upward movement, insurance, becomes an attractive investment. This especially applies to twenty payment life and various forms of endowment insurance which get a fixed sum of money on a specified date.

"I believe that 1925 will be a good bond year and that many issues will see higher prices than they have already reached, but I also believe that investors should take account of stock as to their insurance holdings. No man should have all his investments in stocks, bonds, insurance, real estate, or any other one thing. All of one's capital in Government bonds is not a same method of investing. Diversification is the basis of the soundest method of investing. The point I wish to make today is that in diversifying consider insurance as a possible investment for a portion of your surplus funds during 1925.

"In purchasing endowment insurance use some sense as to maturity. For instance, in paying a $20,000 endowment policy a man should consider his age in determining the duration of the policy. It is apt to be more dangerous than beneficial to have a $20,000, twenty year policy mature when he is forty. On the other hand, it is unreasonable for a man of fifty to take out a twenty year policy. In taking out a $20,000 endowment policy it is best to arrange the maturities so that $2000 will come due when you are sixty, $2000 when you are sixty-one, $2000 when you are sixty-two, and so forth until you are seventy. Then as you can afford additional insurance have it mature in a similar series of years beginning when you are seventy.

"I am hopeful of the insurance business for the next few years. I believe all the large companies will do a record business and wide awake, honest agents should prosper with their companies. I am very optimistic on the stocks of most of the large insurance companies. The insurance business has developed to stupendous proportions yet it is still in its infancy when judged by its possibilities. Moreover, under careful government supervision of the insurance companies, and the fact that they are officered and directed by capable, conscientious men, should make their securities, as well as their policies, sound investments for a portion of your surplus funds."

Herman Williamson, of Evanston, Ill., spent Sunday and Monday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Williamson at Shoups' Station. Miss Glenna Tanner of Dayton, was also a guest at the Williamson home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Koogler spent Sunday a week ago with the latter's brothers-in-law and twin sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Huber Jackson and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Campbell at Belmont.

William Zimmerman and wife of near Piqua, attended church at this place Sunday morning and visited his father, Cornelius Zimmerman and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Koogler entertained at dinner, Sunday, Rev. Eldemiller, Mr. and Mrs. Lester of Belmont and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Koogler.

A concert of sacred music, consisting of solos, duets and quartets will be given by the Apollo Quartet at the church in Zimmerman Sunday evening, February 8 at 7:30. The Quartet which is said to be very good, is composed of three young men from South Charleston and one from New Carlisle, who are training for Lyceum work. All are cordially invited to come and hear them. No admission will be charged.

Much regret is felt by the boys and by those interested in the boys and young people of the neighborhood and church, at the loss of Rev. E. W. Moyer, who has resigned as pastor of Beaver and Mt. Zion Churches. Few ministers are endowed with the gift of winning the confidence and affection of the boys in such large measure as has Rev. Moyer during his stay in Beavercreek where he has been active in Boy Scout work, and in promoting the Daily Vacation Bible School and other things especially for the youth and children of the community. His leaving will be a very distinct loss to neighborhood, and the boys indeed are grieved at the coming loss of their friend, pal and counselor, and their parents likewise, for one who has been indeed a present helper in keeping their boys in the path of right and away from temptations and bad company.

Rev. Moyer and his talented and estimable wife, leave March 1, for their new field of labor in Southern Kentucky and their friends in Beavercreek wish for them success in large measure in their new pastorate.

Charles Wetzel had a sale of household effects at his residence in Zimmerman, Friday afternoon. He will make his home with his sons and daughter, Dan Wetzel, in Dayton, William near Trotwood; Elmer at Bellbrook and Mrs. Allen Love in Dayton. He has rented his house in Zimmerman.

Relatives in Big Woods Neighborhood made up a wood-cutting party at the farm occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Miller near Yellow Springs. Mr. Miller and three children have been ill with scarlet fever, which was followed by flu in Mr. Miller's case. The home is still under quarantine.

Why A Woman's Age Shows In Her Hands

A noted beauty specialist recently said that she could invariably judge a woman's age by her hands. Worry and hard work often shows in the hands when it does not show in the face, and as a rule women give more attention to their face than to their hands. The hands, however, should not be neglected because pretty, soft, white hands are really the true mark of refinement, and they should be cared for. Any woman can have beautiful, white soft, pretty hands, regardless of the work she has to do, if she will simply spend a minute or two just before retiring, rubbing a little plain Ice-mint on them. In the morning she will be greatly surprised at the pleasant transformation that has been wrought by even a single application. Ice-mint is made from a Japanese product that is simply marvelous for its beautifying properties whether used on the hands or face. Regardless of what kind of work a woman does, she should have pretty hands. As the hands, if neglected are bound to show the hard work and worry of our lives. A few applications of Ice-mint will actually make any woman proud of her hands and skin. It costs little and is sold and recommended by good druggists everywhere. Adv.

WHEN A NEW LAW IS NEEDED

Occasionally our graduate wise-acs tell us that the legislature might well take a vacation for five years as we have too much legislation as things are. It is doubtful if one man in ten can answer the simple question, "When is a new law needed?"

The answer may be brief and yet correct. Whenever unselfish but competent observers discover that a type of social behavior already adopted by a few people has proven successful and beneficial; and whenever this type of behavior gives promise of value for the great mass of the population then it may be formulated as a law. These two conditions may throw the door too widely open for new legislation; if so we may add that legislation should be proposed when the public mind is open to educational preparation for its execution; when the evils enough to furnish ample argument for the new law; when the principle involved in the new law has been already effectively carried out in previous legislation.

It is not necessary for legislatures to postpone action until the majority of the citizens demand it, nor until the enemies of the proposed legislation have been convinced of its justice. In fact a minority of citizens always has determined the course of political life and always will.

"Not Possible To Classify"

Mr. Ray Cox, local insurance agent, who uses Gazette classified ads every day of the year, has fond memories of the old school days, when McGuffey readers were found in almost every home. To please Mr. Cox I am today using one of the old ones. As I recall, it went something like this:

THE CORN SONG

(Tune: Please Pass the Maple Syrup)
Heap high the farmer's good for kings,
Heap high the buckwheat cakes!
Let style and manners take their wings
While of them he partakes.

Let city folks eat toast and milk,
Post toasters, fruit and bran;
Yea, let them loiter about in silk
And eat from out a can.

Let snowstorms come and kill the rye,
Let mildew spoil the hay;
I need not have the pumpkin pie,
But for one thing I pray:

That when the snows about me drift
And drowsy is my head,
When my fat old form I lift
And jump from out my bed,

That ere the day is half way gone
By chance the wife awakes,
So she can put the griddle on
And fry some buckwheat cakes.

Xenia people like buckwheat cakes. In fact, they would be interested in reading your ad, if you have some buckwheat flour for sale. Just advertise it on this page under the "What to Eat" column.

The Toughest Old COUGH Can Now Be Stopped

Lingering coughs—the kind that hang on and hang on and rob a man of his sleep—the kind that makes him peevish and all worn out. Those are the breed of coughs that prove that common cough syrups are about as useful as a bottle of ginger pop.

The quickest and surest way to get rid of a persistent cough is to take a teaspoonful of Broncholine Emulsion four times a day.

It's made to stop the old-timers—the tough ones—and it does it without any loss of time.

And remember, there is no chloroform—no sugar—no dope in this grand cough medicine. It's a prescription for stubborn coughs and that's the kind it speedily conquers.

For ordinary coughs one or two doses is usually enough. Sayre & Hemphill and dealers everywhere can supply you. Adv.

BRINGING UP FATHER

One Wife on Approval by VIOLET DARE

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

CYNTHIA and JIM LELAND, bride and groom, settle in their new home to find that Jim's mother expects to rule their lives. Cynthia rebels; Jim's devotion to his mother blinds him.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT VI—OUT OF THE PAST

THE dog show was brand new to Cynthia, and most interesting. She stood clutching the top rail of the fence while the judge walked about, looking at the Newfoundlands, and then watched the dogs walked and ran around the ring.

VIOLET DARE

"Oh, I do hope his dog wins!" she whispered to Jim. "It's such a beautiful one. How thrilling it must be to go in there with your own dog and wonder if he'll win!"

She stopped, then suddenly joined in the applause that had broken out all around the ring. The judge had handed the blue ribbon to Philip Graham.

"How wonderful!" She waved to Graham, and hurried down to the gate at the end of the fence to shake hands with Graham as he came out. Jim followed more slowly. The dog show was all right, of course—all, he didn't exactly like having Cynthia rush after this fellow so enthusiastically. What if they had known each other years before!

Cynthia and Graham walked back toward him, the huge dog ambling beside them.

"Jim, what do you think? Phil says he'll give me a dog. Isn't that gorgeous?" Cynthia cried. "I can't think of anything I'd rather have."

Jim mumbled something. A Newfoundland in their house! What in the world would they do with it?

"And, Jim, Phil can stay all night with us! Isn't that great?" Cynthia went on. "He has to be here for two days longer. Oh, it's so nice to see you. And, Jim, Phil. After you rushed off to Europe—"

She stopped abruptly, flushing. Phil Graham glanced away from her as abruptly. To both had come the same memory, that of the evening when he had asked her to marry him, and she, divided between embarrassment and delight, had told him that she was engaged to Jim.

"By George, there's a good dog!" Phil cut in, breaking the uncomfortable silence. "That Airdale over there. He's likely to win in his class. Isn't he a corker?" he added, to Jim.

"Sure is." Jim was not too enthusiastic. "It's great that you can come to us tonight, Graham. Fine to have you."

He and Cynthia sauntered on, looking at the other dogs, while Phil put his own back in its place, to join them later near the door. As they all left the building Jim looked at his wife curiously. She seemed to have regained the gaiety and sparkle that she had so mysteriously lost of late. Had Phil Graham been responsible for this? he asked himself. He did not doubt for a moment that his wife loved him; in fact, Cynthia's adoration was sometimes a bit embarrassing. But certainly she and this fellow Graham were unusually good friends!

When they reached home Frances, the maid, came running to meet them.

"Oh, Mr. Leland, your mother telephoned, and said that it was most important for her to talk to you; she wanted you to telephone the minute you got in."

"I'll call her at once. What time did she phone?"

"Quite a long time ago, about nine o'clock, and then again, just half an hour ago."

Jim hurried to the library telephone without waiting to take off his overcoat. Cynthia promptly divested Phil Graham of his hat and coat, and led the way to the kitchen.

"We'll get some supper ourselves," she gaily announced to Frances.

"Phil, can you still make such marvelous cheese toast as you used to make before that, and—let's see what else is in the refrigerator." She knelt before it, and began to rummage about. "Mushrooms—some cold chicken—cream—baked ham—oh, we're going to have a gorgeous party, Phil! Look in that cake box, up there on the pantry shelf—Isn't there half a maple nut cake there?"

She forgot the moments when she had longed to escape.

I thought so. Get it out, and some bread for the toast, from that other box."

Jim rejoined them to find Cynthia wearing a charming little purple rubber apron with flaunting yellow flowers on the pockets, while Graham had on one of cook's serviceable ginghams. He was stirring the delicious smelling contents of a deep saucepan on the electric stove, and Cynthia was spreading a red and white checked tablecloth on the kitchen table, and singing gaily.

"Oh, Jim—you're just in time to slice the cheese—very thin—for the toast," she told him.

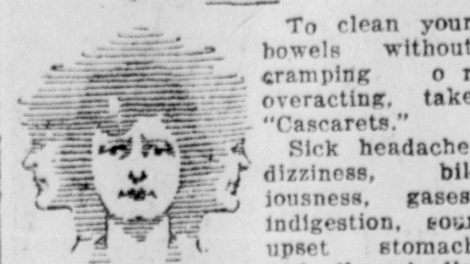

"Sorry, but I can't," he answered almost curtly. "Mother wants to see me at once, so I'll have to go over there. Don't know what time I'll be back."

"Oh, Jimbo! What a shame that you'll miss the party!" Then, suddenly remembering that that wasn't quite the thing to say first, she added, "I hope there's nothing serious the matter."

"I don't know exactly—she couldn't tell me much over the phone," he answered, and, kissing her hastily and shaking hands with Graham, departed.

Tomorrow—A Request—and a Promise.

Sensational Sale of New Antiseptic Breaking Record

A Discovery of Vast Benefit to Humanity

Thousands Using It Give it Unstinted Praise

Another Public Letter to Sayre & Hemphill Who Has Already Sold Hundreds of Bottles

Now that you have had such a wonderful sale of Kojene these last few weeks why not again tell your friends and customers what a wonderful discovery it is?

By so doing you can help many ailing ones and prevent hundreds of others from becoming ill.

Science continues to progress and now it has given us Kojene, the new and only antiseptic known that is neither poisonous, alcoholic, irritant or caustic.

And this non-poisonous antiseptic, so harmless that you can drink it, is four times as powerful as Carbolic Acid.

Yes, and more powerful than Bichloride of Mercury.

Let's go a little further with this new antiseptic that physicians, surgeons and dentists are talking about.

Please tell your customers that it is seventy-five times more powerful as a destroyer of germs than most of the popular flavored antiseptics and mouth washes now in use.

Go further and tell them that it is so powerful that one single teaspoon will make a whole tumble of the most effective and pleasant mouth wash money can buy.

A sixty cent bottle will make one-half gallon—Yes! one-half gallon of a better mouth wash than the high priced, ready to use kind.

And while you are talking about the world's most wonderful antiseptic—Kojene—tell them about a few of the many things it has the power to relieve.

Sore throat and Tonsillitis will disappear overnight. In a week chronic nasal Catarrh will be a thing of the past. Old sores, ulcers, boils, carbuncles and blemished skin will clear up like magic.

Eczema and that itching skin that drives one almost mad two days treatment is enough.

And that's all—except that women who believe in cleanliness will be glad to know that Kojene will do anything that any other antiseptic will do and do it better.

And it is not poisonous.

Another thing—Kojene has only the most healthful effect on delicate membranes which cannot be said of harsh, poisonous germ killing agents.

A six ounce bottle for 60 cents—and we almost forgot to say that you can give any purchaser the sixty cents back if he or she is not delighted with Kojene. Adv.
